Sprint 4 Report: SYA Team 2 – Business Flow

Zion Calvo, Kaio Barbosa, Roslyn Axtell
12/2/18

Actions to stop doing:
- Stop working entirely independently.

Actions to start doing:
- Schedule more meetings for just our team members so that our time working on SYA can be more productive.
- Spend more time working with Scott and get help when stuck.
- Daily stand-ups

Actions to keep doing:
> It has still been super helpful sending Scott reminder emails for our meetings. Also asking him to look over our user stories and determine story points together has been invaluable. Having regular meetings with Scott have been super helpful because he has been able to give us insight into how best to go about our tasks as well as answer questions. Our Trello scrum board has been a really helpful resource to keep our team organized.

Work completed/not completed:

Not Completed:

Completed:
User Story 1: As a blog, I should be able to update my profile information
User Story 2: As a blog, I would like to view what categories the art submissions are in.
User Story 3: As a blog, I would like to be able to download them to share on my social media platform.
User Story 5: As a developer, I need to be able to read information from a database.
User Story 4: As a blog, I to see how many users I've responded to so that I can make sure to reply in a timely manner.

Work Completion Rate:

Total # User Stories Completed: 4
Total # Estimated Ideal Work-Hours Completed: 60
Total # Days: 14
User Stories/Day: 0.28
Work Hours/Day: 4.28
Avg User Stories/Day: 0.175

Avg Work Hours/Day: 2.85

SPRINT 2 BURNUP CHART